

NO DOUBTING THOMAS: Indy connection believes in Isiah B8

SUNDAY, JULY 2, 2006

Newsday

SECTION B

NEWSDAY.COM/SPORTS

This marriage starts with diamond jubilee

There have been some strange bobblehead nights, but this one takes the (wedding) cake.

A Brooklyn couple will wed at home plate Saturday night after the Cyclones' game against the the State College Spikes at Key-Span Park.

In honor of their marriage, the team will be handing out bride-and-groom bobbleheads to the first 2,500 fans who attend the game.

"Teams have done some silly bobbleheads in the past, but this is pretty unique," said Steve Cohen, the Cyclones general manager. "Long after they're married, people are going to have their bobbleheads somewhere."

The bride and groom, Dave

Kerpen and Caroline Fisher, are avid baseball fans who went to a Cyclones game on their fourth date.

To pay for the wedding, the couple raised about $80,000 worth of sponsorships. Flowers are covered by 1-800Flowers, cake by Grandma's Secrets in Harlem, and more. The couple will donate $20,000 to the David Wright Foundation between the eighth and ninth innings.

"We're skipping the whole anyone-here-have-anything-to-say-or-forever-hold-your-peace thing just in case someone really drunk hangs around," Kerpen said.

— TRIPP MICKLE

Dave & Carrie's Field of Dreams, July 8